PREFACE TO THE NEW MANUAL.

By order of the Session, a Committee, consisting of the Pastor, Rev. G. R. Brackett, D. D., Elder J. Adger Smyth, and Deacon Hall T. McGee, were appointed to prepare a New Manual of the Second Presbyterian Church, bringing the history down to the present time.

It has been the aim of the Committee to reproduce the substance of the Manual prepared by Dr. Smyth, in 1838, and 1854 including, the History of the Church, the Rules for the Government of the Church, and of "The Association," retaining as far as possible, the language of the old Book. To this has been added a history of the buildings ; of the various Societies of the Church ; of the work among the colored people ; the By.Laws of the Board of Deacons ; and a History of the Sunday-School, prepared by Mr. A. T. Smythe, up to the time of his resignation, as Superintendent. The Roll of Communicants is also brought down to date.

August 1st, 1894.

PREFACE.

Written by REV. THOMAS SMYTH, D. D., 1838.

THIS publication, it is hoped, will prove useful to the members of the Second Presbyterian Church and congregation. It will do so, by imparting all that information which is so desirable to those who connect themselves with any Society. The origin, history and progress of the Church, is here disclosed ; its present condition delineated ; its rules and regulations declared ; its officers, elders and members published. It will do so, by giving form and character to the Church ; by attaching to its history and doings their reasonable importance ; and thus making it an object of greater interest and regard.

It will do so, by treasuring up, for future generations, the correct history of the present and the past ere time has rolled its oblivious wave over the transactions of by-gone days.

It will do so, by constituting a bond of union among the members of the Church—making them acquainted with each other, and with all that is done in the Church, and thus promoting union, harmony, and brotherly love.

In olden times, "they that feared the Lord, spake often one to another, and the Lord hearkened and heard it." The great obstacles to a personal acquaintance, and familiar intercourse among Christians, in a city like this, are, their wide dispersion, the continual change in their places of residence, and the consequent difficulty of ascertaining where they reside from year to year. The following manual will obviate these difficulties. Every member of the Church may be furnished with it; and it is hoped, will feel the obligation of cultivating that spirit of mutual intercourse, which has, in former years, been so productive of good to this people. "A new commandment I give unto you, that ye love one another." "Hereby know we that we have passed from death unto life because we love the brethren." "Thereby shall all men know that ye are my disciples, if ye have love one towards another."

Let every member of the Church and congregation put themselves in immediate possession of this little volume. Let them read it at least once a year. Let them endeavor to reduce its rules to practice, and to act upon its suggestions. Let them study the government of the Church—become acquainted with its nature and design—co-operate in the prosecution of all its plans—manifest an affectionate interest in all its members, the poor as well as the rich—and then will she arise and shine, the glory of the Lord being risen upon her; she will lengthen her cords and strengthen her stakes; and the Lord will add to her continually such as shall be saved.

HISTORY

OF CHARLESTON, S. C.

Previous to 1811 the First Presbyterian Church was the only accommodation for Presbyterians in Charleston. It had been for many years, however, found altogether insufficient for this purpose. As early as the year 1804 the necessity of a new erection was felt and the design encouraged by Dr. Buist, then Pastor of the Church. The Rev. Mr. Malcomson, who arrived from Ireland in 1794, and had been settled as Pastor for many years in Williamsburg, in this State, was engaged to preach for those who wished to form another congregation, and the temporary use of the French Church, (Huguenot,) was procured. His death, which occurred in September of the same year, blighted the sanguine hopes which were entertained, that ere long another Presbyterian Church and congregation would be formed in Charleston. It was not until the year 1809, when the inability to find accommodation in the existing Church, made the matter urgent, that the determination was finally and effectually ally made to enter upon the formation of the present Second Presbyterian Church.

It was on Wednesday evening, February 8th, 1809, that the following gentlemen being assembled at the house of Mr. Fleming, entered into an agreement to unite their efforts to secure a suitable building for a Presbyterian Church, viz: Benjamin Boyd, William Pressly, John Ellison, Archibald Pagan, George Robertson, Samuel Robertson, William Walton, James Adger, Caleb Gray, John Robinson, Alexander Henry, Samuel Pressly, William Aiken and John Porter.

At a subsequent meeting on March 6th, a subscription paper for the support of a minister was presented when, by the subscription of a number present, of one hundred dollars each, for two years, more than a sufficient salary being subscribed, a committee was appointed to request the Rev Andrew Flinn, then connected with the united congregation of Williamsburg and Indiantown, to organize and take charge of the congregation, with a salary of two thousand dollars. The committee consisted of Benjamin Boyd, John Cunningham, John Milligan, Samuel Robertson and John Robertson. This invitation Mr. Flinn accepted, and a meeting for the formation of a Second Presbyterian Church was held at Trinity Church, (Methodist,) on Monday evening, April 24th, 1809. Committees were appointed to attend to secular business, to purchase a site for the erection of a Church, and to obtain subscriptions. The first standing committee to attend to all the secular affairs of the Church and to purchase a site were, Benjamin Boyd, John Cunningham, Joseph Milligan, John Robinson and Samuel Robertson.

As a record of the munificence of the donors, who were not confined to Presbyterians, it was resolved that the names of the subscribers should be preserved on parchment and deposited in the archives of the Church.

By May 16th the plan of the Church was presented by William Gordon, who was appointed to build it, and who immediately entered upon the work. In 1809 an act of incorporation was obtained.

At a meeting on January 25th, 1810, a subscription paper was presented for the signatures of those who wished to become members of the Second Presbyterian Church, to be governed by prescribed rules and by-laws, when the following persons signed their names, viz :—

In order that the Church might be opened for the reception of the Harmony Presbytery, at its first session, it was dedicated to the worship of Almighty God, by a sermon from the Rev. Dr. Flinn, on Wednesday, April 3rd, 1811, and connected with the Ecclesiastical Judicatories of the Presbyterian Church. This was the first session ever held in Charleston, by a Presbytery, connected with the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in the United States. The Charleston Union Presbytery, also, held its first session in this Church, April 10th, 1823.

The first Pastor of this Church was the Rev. Andrew Flinn, D. D. He was called in February, 1809; installed April 4th, 1811; and died February 24th, 1820; having been eleven years connected with the Church. He was born in Maryland, in 1773; graduated at the University of North Carolina, in 1798; was licensed to preach the Gospel by the Presbytery of Orange, N.

C., in 1800. His first pastoral charge was in Fayetteville, N. C.; afterwards he removed to Camden, and from thence to the united congregations of Bethel and Indiantown, in Williamsburg, South Carolina. From this place, he was called to Charleston, in 1809, where he organized this Church, dedicated this House of Worship, and built up this Congregation. On February 24th, 1820, in the forty-eighth year of his age, after a long and painful illness, Dr. Flinn was removed from the scene of his earthly labors.

After the death of Dr. Flinn, the Church was supplied by such transient ministers as could be obtained until April, 1820, when the Rev. Artemas Boies, pastor of the Church in Wilmington, N. C., and who had been recommended by Dr. Flinn, was called to supply the Church for one year, during the rebuilding of his Church at Wilmington, which had been burnt.

He was elected pastor in April, 1821, and continued to labor until May, 1823, when he tendered his resignation to the Church, and his pastoral connection, which had continued for three years, was regretfully sundered, on account of the delicate health of his wife. He died of typhoid fever, at the age of 52, in Sept., 1844, while pastor of the Second Church in the city of New London, Conn. The noble granite shaft erected by his people over his grave bears this fitting and characteristic epitaph: "Speaking the truth, in love."

In November, 1823, it was unanimously resolved to call the Rev. Thomas Charlton Henry, who was installed by the Charleston Union Presbytery, January, 1824. He died Oct. 5th, 1827, having been four years connected with the Church.

Dr. Henry was the son of Alexander Henry, of Philadelphia, the venerable and devoted President of the American Sunday School Union, and an Elder in the Central Presbyterian Church. He was graduated from Middlebury College, Vermont, in August, 1814, and from Princeton Theological Seminary, N. J., in 1816. Having received and declined invitations to several Churches, he finally accepted a unanimous call from the Presbyterian Church at Columbia, S. C., where he was ordained and installed in 1818 by the Presbytery of Harmony. It was at the close of his fifth year of labor in Columbia that Dr. Henry received a unanimous call to this Church.

In the first and second years of his ministry in Charleston, considerable additions were made to the Church; but in the third, a blessed effusion of the Holy Spirit was enjoyed.

On the first of October, 1827, when in the enjoyment of perfect health, he was suddenly seized with the "stranger's fever," then prevalent in the city, which in four days terminated his valuable life, at the early age of thirty-seven.

After the melancholy death of Dr. Henry, the Church remained two years without a pastor, though faithfully supplied by the Rev. Benjamin Gildersleeve, and the Rev. Dr. Leland. Various and unsuccessful efforts were made to secure a suitable minister. In June, 1828, the Rev. Alonzo Church, of Georgia, received a call which he declined. In September, the Rev. Mr. Kirk was elected pastor, but he also refused to come. In February, 1829, the Rev. William Ashmead, being in Charleston on account of his health, received a call, which he accepted, and was in May installed pastor. On June 7th, he obtained leave of absence for the summer, with the intention of bringing his family, but he died on his return, to Philadelphia, December 2nd, 1829, having been connected with this Church but little more than six months, of which he was absent more than four.

Mr. Ashmead was born in Philadelphia in 1797; was graduated from the University of Pennsylvania in 1818. He studied for the Gospel ministry under the Rev. James P. Wilson, the friend of Dr. Flinn, who published his memoir. Mr. Ashmead was compelled to teach by day, and study by night, and thus laid the foundation of his future infirmities. He was licensed to preach in 1820. He received a call from the Presbyterian Church in Lancaster, where he labored for more than eight years previous to his call to this Church.

After the death of Mr. Ashmead, the Church sat in her widowhood for several years, receiving her food from occasional supplies, especially from her tried friend, the Rev. Mr. Gildersleeve. In August 1830, the Rev. Alexander Aikman received an unsuccessful call. In April 1831, a similar call was presented to the Rev. J. B. Waterbury.

The above sketch is condensed from "The History of the Second Presbyterian Church," by the Rev. Thomas Smyth, D. D., who was called to this Church in April 1832. He was born in Belfast, Ireland, on the 14th of June, 1808, and was educated at Belfast College, from which he graduated with distinguished honors. He prosecuted his theological studies at Highbury College, in London. Compelled to relinquish his studies, on account of failing health, he followed the guiding hand of Providence across the seas to the shores of the New World. Arriving in 1830, he was received under the care of the Newark Presbytery, N. J., and entered the Senior Class of Princeton Seminary. Before graduating he received an invitation to the Second Presbyterian Church, Charleston, S. C., and entered upon his ministerial labors in 1831. His long and useful ministry began and ended with this favored people. In August 1832, he received a permanent call, and was installed by the Charleston Union Presbytery, December 29th, 1834. His ministry extended over a period of forty years. To this Church of his "first love," he consecrated all of his energies. "For her," he said, "I have given myself, and all that I have—my time, talents, acquisitions, substance and strength. For her I have lived and toiled, prayed and suffered, and for her I would willingly lay down my life." He declined complimentary and enticing calls in every direction, from the College, the Seminary, and the Editorial Chair, saying:—"I am determined to live and die with my people." He was an indefatigable student and author, and published, in all, about thirty volumes, embracing almost every subject of public interest.

Probably more than a thousand members, white and colored, were added to the Church during his ministry, and more than thirty became ministers of the Gospel. The Church was visited with several gracious outpourings of the Holy Spirit, and as the result of one great revival, there were over one hundred accessions. The religious zeal awakened in 1854 led to the organization of the Glebe Street Church, to which this Church contributed thirty devoted members, including three of its most active Elders. The flourishing congregation of the Central Presbyterian Church was largely the result of the liberality, activity and devotion of those who, in 1823, went out from this Church, and united with others in its formation.

In the prime of his manhood, Dr. Smyth was stricken with paralysis, and in 1853, while on his return from the General Assembly, he was again stricken so severely that, for a time, all hopes of his life were given up. His indomitable energy of will, with the divine blessing, however, sustained him, and though ever after a cripple, he persevered to the end in the work to which he had devoted his life, and on the 20th of August, 1873, he quietly entered into his rest. His last thoughts were for the people of his love, for whom he was struggling to deliver his dying message.

It deserves to be mentioned here that Dr. Smyth was assisted at different periods of his ministry, when disqualified by infirmity for discharging its functions, by the following ministers, whose faithful labors are held in grateful remembrance: Rev. Henry M. Smith, D. D., Rev. D. L. Buttolph, D. D., Rev. Ferdinand Jacobs, D. D., Rev. James McDowell and Rev. Hampden C. DuBose, D. D.

In May, 1871, the Rev. Gilbert R. Brackett, D. D.,

was called to supply the vacant pulpit, and on June 16, 1872, was installed pastor, which office he stills holds and fills to the entire satisfaction of a united and loving people.

Under his administration the Church has continued to prosper, both spiritually and temporally. At almost every Communion there have been large accessions to the Church, principally from among the younger members of the congregation. The temporal and financial affairs of the Church are in good condition, with all debts and outstanding obligations paid in full, as the congregation have always responded promptly and liberally to Dr. Brackett's faithful and eloquent presentation of the duty and privilege of honoring the Lord with their substance.

THE BUILDINGS.

This venerable edifice was completed in 1811, and the congregation struggled with a heavy debt until 1824, when this beautiful temple, says Dr. Smyth, "at the cost of more than one hundred thousand dollars, was delivered free from all incumbrances, by the energy, union, and concerted liberality of its founders. No other fault could be found with a Church, so grand in its simplicity, its perfect proportions and whole arrangements, but its immense size. And it is with much pleasure and gratification I testify to the readiness and the needful liberality with which it entered in 1833 upon that series of alterations, which has terminated so beneficially in the present greatly improved condition and aspect of the Church." The capacity of the building was diminished by lowering the ceiling, raising the floor, and taking sufficient space from the front to make a convenient vestibule, and a commodious room above which could be used as a Sunday-school and lecture room, and library.

It was found, in 1874, that a new roof was needed for the safety and preservation of the building, and the sum of $6,000 was raised in a time of great financial stringency. In his handsome tribute to our "noble ladies," President Simonton said: that the work could not have been finished without their generous co-operation." The amount raised by them was about $1,800.

In the great cyclone of August 27th, 1813, this Church sustained considerable injury; the lead that covered the top of the roof, with a considerable portion of the slate, were raised and carried away, and some of the sashes of the windows were blown away.

In 1885, when other churches were seriously damaged by the cyclone, ours received a comparatively slight injury.

In the memorable earthquake of 1886, which threatened the city with destruction, this Church was damaged to the amount of $6,000, but through the kind and generous benefaction of friends abroad, from both South and North, chiefly from the latter, we were enabled, speedily, to restore our shattered walls.

On August 27th, 1893, this Church again suffered severely from the most destructive cyclone that has ever visited our loved city. The building was completely unroofed on the north side, the pews and organ deluged with water, and the whole ceiling so damaged as to necessitate its removal. The sum required to restore the building was $3,300, which was partially covered by an insurance of $1,300.

Steps were immediately taken to repair the damages, and on November 26th, divine service was resumed in the renovated Church. During the repairs Sabbath services were held in the Sunday-school building.

Of the $2,000 required to liquidate the debt incurred, $1,800 was raised by a single collection, on December 10th, 1893.

Previous to the time of Dr. Henry, the weekly lectures were delivered, and the prayer-meeting held at private residences, but in January, 1824, at the urgency of Dr. Henry, the corporation procured a temporary building in St. Philip street. A lot of land was, however, soon leased in Black Bird's alley, (now Burns' lane,) at fifty dollars per annum, and a Lecture Room erected through the efforts of the ladies of the congregation, at a cost of about seven hundred dollars. But this building being too small, and the location unfavorable, it was resolved in 1835, to procure a more suitable building in a more eligible situation.

A beautiful and more creditable edifice was erected in Society street, and dedicated in March, 1837. This Lecture-Room was destroyed in the great fire of 1838. It was afterwards rebuilt and subsequently sold. It was in these Lecture-Rooms that Dr. Smyth delivered to crowded audiences his masterly discourses on "Apostolic Succession" and "Presbytery and Prelacy," which were afterwards published and used as text books in Theological Seminaries.

In 1881 the need of a new and more convenient Sunday-school building was beginning to be deeply felt, and steps were taken to procure funds for its erection, resulting in the organization of a society called the "Sunday-School Workers," composed mainly of members of the Sunday-school, which in the course of nine years, raised nearly $3,000. The first President of the Society was Mrs. Mary T. Robinson, who was called away in the midst of her devoted labor. She was succeeded by Mrs. James Allan, who prosecuted the work with equal energy and zeal.

The Society was dissolved when the building was completed. In November, 1881, a lot was purchased at a cost of $1,207.25. The elegant building was completed at a cost of $10,456, and dedicated May, 1887.

SKETCH OF THE SUNDAY-SCHOOL.

The Sunday School of the Second Presbyterian Church, of Charleston, S. C., was organized in the year 1818, by Mr. and Mrs. Geo. E. Hahnbaum. It was the second Sunday School organized in this city.

Mr. and Mrs. Hahnbaum were both members of the Congregational (or Circular) Church, of Charleston, and they had about two years previous, started, in connection with that Church, the first Sunday School in the city. This attracted the attention of some of the members of the Second Presbyterian Church, and an invitation was extended to Mr. and Mrs. Hahnbaum to start a school there. They consented, and organized it in 1818.

The first Superintendent of the School was Mr. George E. Hahnbaum himself, Mrs. Hahnbaum being his assistant. It was organized as distinct from the Church, and was not at that time under the direction of Session. For this and other reasons Rev. Dr. Andrew Flinn, Pastor of the Church at first opposed it, regarding the work as too secular in its nature. But he soon became convinced of its usefulness, and was ever afterwards its zealous supporter. He preached a sermon to the children on the first anniversary of the School.

The first meeting place for the School was in the South Gallery of the Church, which then afforded ample accommodation for all attendants.

After the School was firmly established Mr. and Mrs. Hahnbaum returned to the Circular Church and to their work there. This was about the year 1822, and the Rev. Basil Gildersleeve was elected Superintendent of the School.

Mr. (afterwards Dr.) Gildersleeve remained as Superintendent for seventeen years. In the year 1838, we find from the Manual of the Church then published, that the Assistant Superintendent of the School was Mr. Charles S. Simonton. Dr. Gildersleeve taught the Female Bible Class. Mrs. Isaac Johnson was the Female Superintendent, with Mrs. Ann Caldwell as Assistant. Miss Susan Ruberry was teacher of the Infant Class, and James W. Stillman, Secretary, Librarian and Treasurer.

There were thirteen male teachers of the School as follows :

John Vardell,	Robert Tweed,
C. S. Simonton,	Win. P. Levy,
D. W. Harrison,	John Pascoe,
C. P. Frazer,	G. W. Patterson,
Robert L. Church,	John Dewees.
Rev. B. Gildersleeve, Female Bible Class.
C. J. Sparks, Assistant Teacher.
Thomas R. Vardell, Male Bible Class.

The other female teachers of the School were twelve in number, as follows :

Miss Margaret Bennett,	Miss Phillippa Burney,
Miss Hannah P. Raymond,	Miss Susan D. Adger,
Miss Susan Vardell,	Miss Mary A. Stillman,
Miss Eliza Auld,	Miss S. Anthony,
Miss Gardenia Gibbs,	Miss Susan Bell,
Mrs. S. Robertson,	Miss Ursula Nell.

There was also besides a Sabbath School for colored persons held after the morning service.

Dr. Gildersleeve continued in charge of the School until 1839. His ministerial duties then interfering, with those of Superintendent, he resigned and Mr. Thomas R. Vardell was elected as Superintendent. He continued in office until his death, in 1850, and under his management the School flourished. During the revival of 1846 one hundred and thirty from the Sunday-School joined the Church. Mr. Vardell was a great singer, and paid especial attention to the music of the School.

About this time Miss Susan Vardell became the teacher of the Infant Class. She remained in charge of it for very many years, and it prospered in her hands. Many now connected with the Church remember being her pupils.

In 1850, on the death of Mr. Vardell, Mr. W. H. Beach, a gentleman from the North, but a merchant of this city, was elected Superintendent. His Assistant Superintendent was Major R. C. Gilchrist. The School was very prosperous under this administration. Mr. Beach was also a fine musician, and gave great attention to the music and singing of the School. The attendance was very large, running up some times to as many as three hundred present. After serving a little over two years Mr. Beach's store in Hayne street, was burned, and he returned to the North.

At this time the rules for the government of the School were changed, and the School was placed under the direct control of the Session of the Church. The policy was at the same time instituted of having an Elder as Superintendent. In April, 1853, Mr. William Adger, an Elder, was elected Superintendent, with Major Gilchrist as Assistant. The School then numbered forty teachers, with over three hundred scholars on the roll. One thousand volumes were added to the Library and properly catalogued.

Mr. William Adger died in New York, in December, 1853. The next year Major R. C. Gilchrist was elected Superintendent, with Mr. James Dillingham as Assistant. They were both Elders of the Church.

At this period the School was very prosperous. The Church Manual, published in 1854, shows that the Superintendent was Major Robt. C. Gilchrist. The Vice-Superintendent was Mr. James Dillingham. There were also two female Vice-Superintendents, Mrs. Isaac Johnson and Miss Susan D. Adger. The Secretary and Treasurer was Mr. William Dewees; the Librarians, Mr. J. Ellison Adger and Mr. A. McD. Brown. The Male Bible Class teachers were Messrs. A. F. Browning and Charles H. Simonton, and the Female Bible Class teachers were Mrs. Thomas Smyth and Mrs. S. J. Robinson. The Infant Class teachers were Misses C. Johnson and Gracia Lanneau.

The School at that time also had a "Visitor" regularly elected, whose duty it was to visit the absentees, and this position was at that time filled most acceptably, and with great good to the School, by Mr. C. P. Frazer.

There were eleven other male teachers, as follows :

James Dillingham,	E. Phillips,
George S. Cook,	J. V. Lyon,
James S. Roberts,	George H. Moffett,
George E. Clark,	C. H. Browning,
Dr. John Anderson,	Mr. Hunter,
W. A. Shepard,

There were sixteen other female teachers, as follows :

Mrs. George H. Moffett,	Miss Jane A. Adger,
Mrs. Browning,	Miss Mary Moffett,
Mrs. Rebecca Lanneau,	Miss Louisa Smith,
Mrs. Peter Lanneau,	Miss Mary Fanning,
Mrs. Steedman,	Miss Eliz'h H. Dewees,
Miss Mary Brown,	Miss Ann Robertson,
Miss Anna Simonton,	Miss M. Dewees,
Miss Louisa Dukes,	Miss Sarah Steele.

Mr. Dillingham served as Assistant Superintendent for ten years, and until his death, about 1864, when Mr. C. N. Averill was elected Assistant Superintendent in his place.

The School continued under the charge of Major Gilchrist, assisted by Mr. C. N. Averill, with his excellent musical gifts, for thirty years, and during that period prospered in every way. The attendance was large and regular, and there were very many additions to the Church from among the scholars.

The position of Female Superintendent continued until after the war. The duties attached to the position were to take the census of the School, see that the classes were kept up in numbers, and look after the general order of the School. On the re-organization of the School after the war, Miss Anna Simonton was elected to the position, which she filled very acceptably for many years. This office was discontinued for a long time, and revived in 1894, and Miss Sarah Annie Smyth elected.

In 1883, both Major R. C. Gilchrist and Mr. C. N. Averill resigned. For some time the School remained without any regular Superintendent; but the exercises were carried on under the efficient charge of Mr. Frank F. Whilden. Special mention deserves to be made of the devoted labors of our lamented Elder, A. R. Stillman, who was elected Superintendent and consented to fill the office for a limited term.

In January, 1885, Mr. Augustine T. Smythe was elected Superintendent, Mr. F. F. Whilden, Assistant, Mr. Hall T. McGee, Secretary and Treasurer and Mr. John W. Robson, Assistant Secretary and Librarian. Miss Gracia Lanneau having resigned her charge of the Infant Class, which she had held, with great acceptance, for thirty years, on account of her failing health. Mrs. Mary S. Whilden was elected her successor, assisted by Miss Mary Whilden and Mrs. Sarah Gardner. Mr. J. Adger Smyth took charge of the Male Bible Class and to Mrs. Geo. H. Moffett, Miss Jane Ann Adger and Mrs. Mary R. McD. Stickney, were assigned the Female Bible Classes.

The Pastor, Rev. G. R. Brackett, D. D., assumed the office of Teacher, and the night service being suspended, began to lecture on the S. S. Lesson to the adults of the Congregation, thus realizing what Dr. Smyth so earnestly desired and advocated, a "Teaching Service for the whole Church." The Pastor's Class-room will accommodate about seventy, and is usually well filled with members of his Congregation and strangers.

The children are trained to habits of systematic beneficence, by contributing to all the Causes of the Church, and to other benevolent objects. The results of six years experiment in our new building, with convenient class-rooms, and a service of instrumental music and song, justifies the change made in our Church Services. Since the discontinuance of the night service and, the concentration of the whole strength of the Church in S. S. work, the membership of the Church has nearly doubled itself. These changes in the organization and management of the School, are due to the practical wisdom and administrative ability of the Superintendent, Hon. A. T. Smythe. The School owes its success largely to the service of song and the orchestral accompaniment. The singing is led by a gifted and enthusiastic vocalist, Mr. F. F. Whilden, and the orchestra is conducted by an accomplished musician, Mr. Lawrence S. Reynolds.

In October, 1893, Mr. A. T. Smythe, who, for eight years had filled the office of Superintendent with remarkable ability and energy, was compelled, with great reluctance, to resign on account of his health. The following December, Mr. Hall T. McGee, who, during the same period, had discharged the office of Secretary with equal fidelity, also resigned.

Mr. Frank F. Whilden was then elected Superintendent, and Mr. John W. Robson, Secretary, and Mr. Robt. A. Smyth, Assistant Secretary.

THE LADIES' EDUCATION SOCIETY.

This Society which has for its object the education of candidates for the Gospel Ministry, was organized by the Rev. A. Boies, in 1821. It began with thirty members, and an income of about $150. During the Ministry of Dr. Henry, the number increased to sixty-seven, and its income to $180. After the decease of Dr. Henry, the Church having no settled pastorate, the Society declined. In 1832, when Dr. Smyth began his ministry, it numbered only forty-seven members. From that time it continued to enlarge, both in its membership and income.

Dr. Smyth took a deep interest in this Society and encouraged and stimulated its members by frequent attendance upon its meeting, and stirring addresses.

This Society has aided nearly fifty students in their Theological Course, and raised nearly $40,000. From 1833 to 1837, four years, it contributed, in addition to money raised for the support of candidates, $2,000 to the General Assembly's Board of Education. It has also made donations to the amount of $3,000 to our Theological Seminary at Columbia, S. C. It has had as many as six beneficiaries at one time, and usually has three or four. Two hundred dollars annually is given to each student.

During the war, the work of the Society was suspended, and it was immediately after the war revived, through the generous assistance of Mr. J. N. Robson, who, for several years annually, contributed the sum of $300.

THE MISSIONARY SOCIETY.

The cause of Foreign Missions has always occupied the supreme place in the benevolent operations of this Church, and its largest collections have always been for this object. No minister was ever more thoroughly imbued with the missionary spirit than Dr. Smyth. "When a student at Highbury College, pursuing his theological studies, he was expecting to enter the missionary field, under the auspices of the London Missionary Society, but was disappointed by the failure of his health, and removal to this country. Resuming his studies at Princeton, N. J., he was contemplating a missionary tour to Florida, when he received an invitation to supply the pulpit of this Church. He was for many years Chairman of the Committee on Foreign Missions, in the Synod of South Carolina. It was while he was zealously discharging the duties of this office that he prepared those soul-stirring missionary discourses, entitled, "The Conversion of the World;" "Faith, the Principle of Missions," and "Obedience, the Life of Missions," which were preached before the Synod, and published by their order. He preached and published several earnest discourses on "Juvenile Missionary Effort." He argued that, "as a missionary spirit is the most essential characteristic of Christianity, and as baptized children are members of the visible Church, and ought to be educated as Christians; therefore they should be taught to pray, to give and labor for the cause of missions."

In 1832, before his installation, he organized a Juvenile Missionary Society, which held its meetings quarterly, and in the same year he commenced the publication of a juvenile missionary paper.

One effect of this missionary zeal was the organization of a flourishing Sabbath School, and a Church at Graniteville, S. C., sustained by members of this Church until it was merged into other Churches established there.

"The amount contributed by this Church from 1832 to 1854 to the cause of foreign missions, to the endowment of the Theological Seminary, and of Oglethorpe University, and to home evangelization," said Dr. Smyth, "has been such as to establish a character for liberality and missionary zeal, which, I hope, will be perpetuated in your future history." We may add, that this liberality and missionary zeal has never abated.

The Missionary Society, no longer confined to the children, was reorganized under the present pastorate, and for many years the average collections amounted to $240 annually. Several years ago the Society undertook the support of a Lady Missionary, at a salary of $600.

The first officers of this Society after its organization were : Mrs. G. R. Brackett, President, and Miss Susan D. A. Smyth, Secretary and Treasurer. The present officers are : Mrs. S. G. Stoney, President, and Miss Sarah R. Smyth, Secretary and Treasurer. The meetings are held on the last Saturday of each month.

THE YOUNG PEOPLE'S SOCIETY OF CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

This Society was organized in October, 1893, and meets each week on Tuesday night. President, James R. Williams. Secretary, Miss Jessie Allan. The officers are elected semi-annually.

WORK AMONG THE COLORED PEOPLE.

This Church always manifested a deep, and affectionate interest in the religious instruction of the colored people, who filled the galleries of the Church, and largely composed its membership, at one time numbering two hundred. During his forty years' ministry, Dr. Smyth was accustomed to prepare sermons with reference to their instruction, and held a special service for them during the week, and, as a pastor, kindly ministered to their spiritual wants, especially in sickness and sorrow. He was a warm supporter of the Zion Colored Church, in Anson Street, in this city, and of the Rev. J. L. Girardeau, D. D., in his ministry to this people. At the time we now refer to, this Church furnished a dozen teachers for the colored Sunday School in Anson Street. "The erection of a beautiful and commodious edifice for the special accommodation of the colored people, the employment of an able minister to labor among them, and the self-denial with which some have persevered in imparting to them catechetical instruction," said Dr. Smyth, "will ever be to your praise." Reference is here made to the church in Calhoun street, to which the growing congregation in Anson Street removed, and where multitudes of colored people were gathered into the Presbyterian Church. The first pastor of this "Zion Church," as it was called, was the Rev. John B. Adger, D. D., for twelve years a zealous missionary in Smyrna, and who labored among this people with equal devotion ; for several months after the resignation of Dr. Adger, the church was supplied by the Rev. Ferdinand Jacobs, D. D., when the Rev. John L. Girardeau, D. D., entered upon his long and useful ministry among this people. His deep interest in the religious welfare of the colored people led him to consecrate many years of toil and great abilities to their instruction."

This valuable building on Calhoun Street is now in the hands of a Board of Trustees, and is gratuitously furnished to the colored people as a place of worship.

WORK AMONG THE WALDENSES.

A Society in aid of the Waldenses in Europe was formed in 1854, in response to a visit from Rev. Mons. Revel, from Italy, to aid their Theological Seminary. $250 annually was pledged to support one of the Vaudois pastors.

This Society has had no existence since the civil war.

RULES

R E P O R T.

The committee appointed at the recent anniversary meeting, to revise the Rules for the Government of the Corporation of this Church, beg leave to state that they proceeded to the consideration of the duty assigned, and, after a careful examination of the rules by which the Association and Corporation have been heretofore governed, have unanimously adopted the following revision; and recommend that they be confirmed by this meeting. Before submitting them, however, for your consideration, they ask to present a sketch of the origin of the Association, and its subsequent connection with the Corporation, for the information of a large portion of the pew-holders, who are not familiar with its formation—which will explain the reason why two distinct bodies should have existed at the same time, to both of which were reserved certain privileges and rights.

In the year 1823 a large debt had accumulated, which the Corporation was unable to meet. A number of gentlemen united to raise a fund to extricate the Church from its difficulties, formed themselves into an ASSOCIATION for that purpose, and did extinguish the debt of the Church on certain conditions, which gave to them the exclusive control and management of the Church in all matters relating to its temporal affairs, such as fixing salaries, pew rents, etc., and in all elections of proprietors they voted according to the amount subscribed by each, viz: from one to eight votes, at all meetings of the Association; and, consequently, in all such matters the pew-holders, unless members of the Association were not entitled to vote. In all elections for pastor or clerk the pew-holders, however, were entitled to one vote each. Separate and distinct minutes of the meetings of the Association and pew-holders were kept; thus two bodies existed at the same time, each being governed by its own rules, which rules your committee have been appointed to revise.

In May, 1843, the Association voluntarily relinquished the rights they possessed, reserving to themselves the exclusive right as an association and as stockholders, to their original privileges in all matters relating to the sale and disposition of Church property.

Members who have connected themselves with this Church more recently, and who are not familiar with its early history, have not been able readily to understand the application of the rules for the reasons already given.

After the relinquishment of the rights of the asso-iation, in 1843, it became necessary that a revision of the rules should be made, as numerous alterations, from time to time, of the original rules, by resolutions at various meetings, so conflicted with their administration, as to render it almost impossible to discriminate and apply them ; consequently a committee was appointed to revise and remodel the said rules, so as to simplify them if possible, and render them more easy of application. That committee never reported, but were relieved, and your present committee was appointed, who now beg leave to present you with the following preamble and rules for the government of the corporation of this Church.

All of which is respectfully submitted,

FLEETWOOD LANNEAU, Chairman.

Whereas the Association did subsequently, at a meeting held on the 1st of May, in same year, formally adopt the foregoing resolution, by which all pew-holders not under twenty-one years of age, who had held a pew or half pew, for one year, and who had paid their pew rents in full, and signed the rules, were admitted members of said Association, with equal rights and privileges except in matters relating to the sale of Church property, which only and properly belongs to the Association as stockholders in the same; be it, therefore,

Resolved, That the following rules be adopted for the future government of the Corporation.

RULE I.

thereof with a copy of this rule ; and if not then settled up he shall declare it vacant, and it shall be at the disposal of any applicant for the same. But no pew shall be considered vacant unless notice be given in writing to the Treasurer, and arrearages paid.

RULE III.

Meetings.—How Called.—All meetings of the Corporation shall be called by the President ; or any seven pew-holders may call a meeting, (should the President refuse to do so,) who are entitled to vote under Rule II, and the President shall preside at all such meetings if present, or in his absence, a chairman pro tem. shall be chosen by the members.

RULE IV.

On the Sabbath previous to the anniversary, a sermon adapted to the occasion shall be delivered by the Pastor, or, in the event of the Church being without a Pastor, by some clergyman appointed by the Session.

Extra Meetings.—How Called.—There shall be no stated meetings of the Corporation, except the annual one, on the first Monday in May ; but the President may call an extra meeting when he thinks proper ; and it shall be his duty to call one when he has been requested in writing by the Pastor and Session, or by any five members of the Corporation.

Absence of President, Etc.—In case of the death or absence of the President, the Standing Committee shall have power to call an extra meeting.

Notice given from the pulpit the Sabbath previous to the intended meeting, or if that is impracticable, a call from the President in the daily morning papers, shall be deemed sufficient notice for all meetings of the Corporation.

RULE VI.

Duties of the President.—The President shall preside at all meetings of the Corporation, and shall preserve good order and decorum among the members. He shall keep the common seal of the Corporation, and affix it to all papers and deeds when authorized to do so by the same. All speeches shall be addressed to him. No member shall interrupt another while speaking, and when two or more members rise at once, the President shall determine who is first to be heard. He shall have no vote in any matters which come before the Corporation, unless the vote be equally divided, in which case he shall have the casting vote.

RULE VII.

Duties of the President and Standing Committee.—The President, together with the Standing Committee, shall attend to all the secular affairs of the Corporation, and shall direct the Treasurer in all matters and things which they may deem necessary for the benefit of the Corporation. They shall examine, some day previous to the anniversary, the state of the funds, and recommend, if necessary, what rate of pew rents shall be assessed for the ensuing year. They shall appoint and fix the salary of the Sexton, who has the immediate charge of the Church and lecture room, and shall direct him in all matters and things relating to the same.

RULE VIII.

He shall make a report to the Standing Committee quarterly, which report shall contain the names of all persons in arrears for pew rents, or otherwise indebted to the Church, with the amount due by each, and if he fail to make such a report he shall be accountable to the Corporation for the amount lost by his neglect. He shall also prepare and give in to the annual meeting a fair statement of all the moneys received and disbursed during the preceding year reported on by the committee, agreeably to the rule next following, and shall perform all other such duties as may reasonably be required of him by the Corporation or Standing Committee; and for the due and faithful performance of the duties of his office he shall give bond, with approved security, to the Corporation, in the sum of one thousand dollars, which bond shall be duly executed and lodged with the President.

As a compensation for his services he shall receive five per cent. on all moneys received by him for pew rents.

RULE IX.

Auditing Committee—The President shall appoint a committee of three members, (two of whom shall be a quorum,) to examine the Treasurer's annual accounts, together with all his vouchers which he shall submit to them; and the said committee shall prepare a report thereon, to be laid before the annual meeting of the Corporation.

RULE X.

Duties of the Secretary.—The Secretary shall take correct minutes of every matter and thing transacted at the meetings of the Corporation; which minutes, he shall insert in the minute book of the Corporation, he shall keep all papers, petitions, etc., and when a vote is taken, shall, if required by three members, call over the names of members present, and mark the ayes and nays. He shall also keep the minutes of the Standing Committee.

RULE XI.

Interments.—Permission for interment shall be given by the President, or, in his absence, by one of the Standing Committee, directed to the Sexton, who shall receive the fees for the ground.

Duties of the Sexton Respecting Interments.—The Sexton shall make a return to the Treasurer on the first day of each month of all the interments made, and by whom permission for the same was granted. Should there have been no interments, he will nevertheless, make a return, stating that fact.

Treasurer.—The Treasurer shall have a general supervision of the Church and lecture room, and it shall be his duty to see that the Sexton gives proper attention to his duties ; and in all matters and things appertaining to the duty of Treasurer, he shall be amenable to the Standing Committee.

Monuments.—No monument or headstone shall be erected over any grave in the public ground, unless the following sums be paid, viz : for a head and foot stone, twenty dollars ($20) ; for all other monuments, one hundred dollars ($100.) No monument or headstone shall be put up but under the direction of the Standing Committee.

RULE XII.

Business.—All business brought before the Corporation shall be by motion in writing, if so required by the presiding officer, and shall be made by one member, and seconded by another ; and no motion shall be considered unless seconded.

No member shall speak more than twice on the same motion, without leave ; and every matter and thing which comes, or may of right come, before the Corporation, shall be determined by a majority of votes present, except when otherwise determined by the rules.

RULE XIII.

Spiritual Affairs.—The Spiritual affairs of the Church, such as the election and ordination of Elders and Deacons, and all matters and things growing out of the same, shall be governed exclusively by the Pastor and Session, and communicants in good standing, when not in contravention to the established forms of the Presbyterian Church in these United States.

RULE XIV.

Elders.—The Elders, when the Church is vacant, shall have charge of the pulpit, and shall obtain temporary supplies, and the Standing Committee shall be authorized to grant such compensation as they may think right.

RULE XV.

Subscriptions.—All subscriptions to the Church and lecture room for repairs thereon, by pew-holders, shall entitle them to Stock in the Church to the amount subscribed; and when such subscriptions shall reach the sum of two hundred and fifty dollars ($250), a fee simple right to eight feet square of ground, in the grave-yard, shall be given for every two hundred and fifty dollars so subscribed and paid, and stockholders so made shall be entitled to all the privileges of original subscribers.

RULE XVI.

Price of Burial Lots.—Upon the payment of one hundred dollars ($100) into the treasury of the Church, by a pew-holder, they shall be entitled to a fee simple right to eight feet square of ground, in the grave-yard; and upon the payment of $40 into the treasury of the Church by a pew-holder or member they shall be entitled to a fee simple right to a single grave in the ground between the east walk and the east wall selected under the direction of the Standing Committee; but no subscriptions for repairs to Church or lecture-room shall be considered as payment or part payment of the present fixed price of one hundred dollars. This rule shall be considered as applicable only to those who have held a pew, or half pew, for twelve months previous, and whose pew rents are fully paid up to the first day of the last quarter. The rights of the original subscribers to burial ground shall not be affected by this rule, but remain unchanged, and the following scale of fees for the grave-yard shall be established: For opening the grave of an adult in any lot or ground which has been sold or is held in fee simple, $10 shall be charged; and for opening the grave of a child, $5 shall be charged, one-half of which shall be paid the Sexton for his services and the other half into the Church treasury, but it is understood that the price of $40 for a single grave is in full to cover all fees to the Church. The Standing Committee shall have authority, upon request of the Committee of Board of Deacons, to remit such, or all portions as they may deem proper, of the burial fees for indigent members of the Church, provided such interment is made in that portion of cemetery lying between east walk and east wall.

RULE XVII.

Pastor and Sexton.—On the election of a Pastor, his salary shall be fixed by the Corporation, by resolution, and a copy of said resolution shall be given with notice of such election, to the Senior Elder of the Session, who will be authorized under said resolution to extend a call to the Pastor elect.

The salary of the Sexton shall be annually fixed by resolution of the Corporation.

RULE XVIII.

Quorum to Alter Rules.—None of the foregoing rules shall be altered, or new rules made, except proposed at an anniversary meeting, and confirmed at a subsequent meeting at which there shall be present one-half of the legal votes of the Corporation, and four-fifths of the votes present agreeing thereto.

All former rules relating to the temporal government of this Church are hereby repealed.

CONCLUSION.

I do hereby certify that the foregoing rules were adopted at a regular meeting of the Association and pew-holders of the Second Presbyterian Church, duly summoned and held at the lecture room of said Church, at which a majority of all the votes were present, on the third (3) of May, 1852, one thousand eight hundred and fifty-two, and in the forty-fourth year after the foundation was laid.

GOVERNMENT OF THE ASSOCIATION,
ADOPTED 3D OF MAY, 1852.

REPORT.

The committee appointed at the recent anniversary meeting to revise the Rules for the Temporal Government of this Church, ask leave to report, that they immediately entered upon the discharge of that duty and remark that, in framing several of the rules so as to correspond with the previous alterations and amendments, they were much embarrassed, so to construct them, as that they should not conflict with the reserved privileges of the Association, and would suggest to that body the consideration of the following modification of their rules, which your committee think will be found amply sufficient for the government of the Association when convened in the capacity of stockholders. Should they be found, upon examination, suitable for the disposition of any business which may be brought before them, without conflicting with the rules as also revised by your committee for the government of the Corporation, your committee would suggest to the Association the adoption of them for the reasons above stated, and which they now ask leave respectfully to submit.

FLEETWOOD LANNEAU,
Chairman.

W. J. SMITH,
JOHN R. SIMONTON.

Whereas, the Association of the Second Presbyterian Church, at an anniversary meeting, 5th of April, 1843, did, by resolution, propose, and subsequently, at a meeting held on 1st of May, in the same year, did constitutionally admit the pew-holders to equal rights with themselves in all matters relating to Church government, reserving only the exclusive control and management of Church property, and everything connected with the sale or transfer thereof; be it therefore Resolved, That the following rules be adopted for the government of the Association in the transaction of business relating to or connected with the sale of Church property.

RULES
THE SPIRITUAL GOVERNMENT OF THE
SECOND PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH.

PREAMBLE.

Necessity for these Rules.—Although this Church adopt “the Confession of Faith and Form of Government and Discipline of the Presbyterian Church in the United States,” as the rule of their faith and practice, yet inasmuch as there are several matters in the mode of government and discipline, left there undetermined, by which a variety of practice is introduced into the Churches under the care of the General Assembly, the following additional rules are adopted.

RULE I.

Elders and Deacons.—The Elders and Deacons of this Church shall be elected by the members in good regular standing, and shall be ordained with the imposition of hands, in the presence of the congregation.

RULE II.

Elders and Deacons.—All such elections shall be decided by a majority of two-thirds of the members present, who shall have two weeks' notice of the nomination of candidates for the offices, which nomination shall be made by the Session then in office.

RULE III.

Admission to the Church.—No person shall be admitted a member of this Church who does not, on examination by the Pastor, or officiating minister, give satisfactory evidence of a renewal of heart, and of faith and repentance towards God.

RULE IV.

Admission to the Church.—All applications for admission to Church membership, should be made to the Session through the Pastor. And notice of such intended application should be given as long as possible before some regular meeting of the Session.

RULE V.

Admission to the Church.—The Session shall examine every candidate prior to admission.

RULE VI.

Public Profession —All who may be admitted to membership shall make a public profession of their faith, and enter into solemn covenant with Almighty

God, in the presence of the congregation, on the morning of the Sabbath on which the sacrament is administered, immediately after the sermon.

RULE VII.

Form of Public Admission.—The persons to be admitted having been invited to present themselves in the aisle, or pews, before the pulpit, the following shall be

THE FORM OF INTRODUCTION TO THE CHURCH.

ADDRESS TO THE CANDIDATES.

You have thus presented yourselves* before Almighty God, with a view to dedicate yourselves† to His service, and to be recognized as members of His visible Church. In this solemn and public contract, you are about to surrender yourselves to your Creator; to acknowledge Jesus Christ to be your Redeemer; and yourselves His servants forever. You are surrounded by witnesses who attest the compact into which you enter. The all-seeing eye of Jehovah is upon you; and His holy angels are spectators of this scene. Brethren, we trust you have not rashly come up hither. And in this confidence we invite you to approach with holy boldness unto Him who is the head of the Church ; casting all your anxieties and cares upon Him, and relying upon Him alone for grace and strength to fulfil your solemn engagements.

PROFESSION OF FAITH.

You believe that there is one true God, constituting in His incomprehensible essence, Father, Son and Holy Ghost, three persons in one Godhead. You believe in the Divine inspiration of the Scriptures of the Old and New Testament ; and that they contain the only rule of faith and practice. You believe in the fall of man, in his entire depravity by nature, and in the necessity of repentance toward God and faith in the Lord Jesus Christ. You believe that by His humiliation, obedience and death, Christ made such a satisfaction to divine justice as is sufficient to expiate all sin, and to remove and wash away the guilt incurred by both original and actual sin, from all who rest upon Him in truth and sincerity. You believe in the doctrines of a general resurrection and a future judgment ; in the everlasting blessedness of the righteous, and in the endless punishment of the finally impenitent.

COVENANT.*

And now, in the presence of God and of these witnesses, you do solemnly surrender yourselves to the Lord, receiving Him as your portion, and acknowledging Him to be the supreme object of your love. Depending upon divine grace for assistance, you hereby sacredly bind yourselves to glorify God by obedience to His laws, and by a diligent observance of His ordinances. You promise to separate yourselves from the world, so far as its engagements would cool your attachments to piety, or bring a stigma upon your holy profession. You are willing to consecrate a reasonable portion of your time, influence and property to the cause of Christ; to co-operate in every good work; to live not unto yourselves, but unto Him who died for you; and in your closets, in your families, and in the world, to act as becometh the gospel of Christ, and as you are required in the word of God. You pledge yourselves to obey the laws and regulations of this particular Church, and, as far as possible, to attend upon all its services, while you continue members of the same, throwing yourselves upon its care, and affectionately regarding its interests.

CONCLUDING ADDRESS.

Beloved in the Lord, the contract you have now formed, no power on earth can dissolve. These engagements will follow you through time, and accompany you to the judgment seat.†

We, who are members of this Church, affectionately welcome you to fellowship with us. We hail you as participants of the same glorious hope and blessing of the gospel.

And now, when you depart from this place, carry with you the salutary recollection that the eyes of the world are upon you, and that as you henceforth conduct yourselves, religion will be disgraced or honored. Remember that your engagement is not with man, but with God. The inactivity therefore of others, their illiberality, their coldness, their neglect of Sabbath and week-day services, can never furnish an excuse for your dereliction. You stand or fall each one of you by yourselves. Abide then, near a throne of grace; be diligent in duty; watchful in life and conversation; and constant in your attendance on the means of grace; and you shall be assured of the fulfilment of that promise, "that He who has begun a good work in you will perform it until the day of Jesus Christ." And may the blessing of God the Father, Son and Holy Ghost rest upon and abide with you forever. Amen.

The person, or persons, shall then be instructed to resume their seats, when the Communion service shall proceed.

RULE VIII.

Admission on Certificate.—Yet although these shall be the regulations for admission, they shall be considered applicable only to such as have not been members of another Church, with whom we are understood to be in full fellowship. Applicants from such a Church, who present a certificate of good standing, and whose characters are known to be pious and exemplary, are not required to enter into public covenant, they having engaged in that act in the Church from which they are transferred. The voluntary renewal of such a profession before this Church, is, however, considered proper and highly beneficial to themselves and others, and therefore recommended. The names of such persons, as well as others, shall be read from the pulpit.

RULE IX.

Baptism.—The ordinance of baptism shall be administered in public; except under extraordinary circumstances.

RULE X.

Baptism, to whom Administered.—Baptism shall not be administered to infants, except where at least one of the parents is a member of the Church in good standing; or to such as are, in the opinion of the Pastor, fit subjects.

RULE XI.

Discipline.—Every member of this Church may expect the strictest exercise of discipline (according to the Confession of Faith and Form of Government of the Presbyterian Church,) when offence is given.

RULE XII.

Neglect of Communion.—Any member absenting himself from the Communion twice in succession, shall be called upon by the Session for his reason for this neglect. And if no proper reason be given, he shall be dealt with by the Session, in such way as they may think proper ; and if absent for more than a year, he may be excluded from membership in the Church.

STANDING NOTICES.

The Lord's Supper is celebrated in this church, when it is not otherwise notified, on the second Sabbath in February, May, July, and November.

Persons desirous of uniting with the Church on profession of faith, are expected to meet the Session previous to the communion; those who wish to unite on certificate, may present their certificates, through the Pastor, to the Session, which meets regularly once a month, or as often as necessary.

The lecture, preparatory to the communion, is held on the Friday evening previous to the communion, unless otherwise announced.

Persons desiring letters of dismissal, can obtain them by application to the Session, through the Pastor; and they should be taken by all who remove for any length of time from the bounds of the congregation, and should be brought by all coming within these bounds. They should also be at once presented, and never retained on hand longer than necessity absolutely requires.

It is deemed proper that children should be presented for baptism on the second Sabbath morning after each communion occasion. A paper containing the name of the child and of the parents, and also the date of its birth, should be handed in to the Minister previously. The ordinance is administered at the commencement of the Church services.

Persons wishing to hire pews may apply to the Treasurer, or to any member of Standing Committee.

EXTRACT FROM OLD RULES OF THIS CHURCH.

ADOPTED ABOUT 1848.

The following paper was adopted by the Session of the Second Presbyterian Church in Charleston, in view of the appointment of Deacons :

The Bible and our standards have made the office of Deacon, in distinction from that of the Pastor and the Ruling Elder, plain, obvious and imperative. And the General Assembly, together with our Presbytery, have called upon every church where the office has fallen into disuse, to have it restored. The Ministry and the Eldership have relation to the doctrine, discipline and government of the Church; and the Deaconship to the general interests of the poor, to collections made for pious purposes, and, generally, to all matters relating to the interests of the Church, in which the Session may desire their co-operation.

It is thus manifest that the duties assigned to Deacons, need not interfere either with those of the Session on the one hand, or of such officers on the other hand, as are appointed by the congregation, for the exclusive management of its fiscal affairs, its buildings, and its burial ground.

Resolved, therefore, that this session do now proceed to nominate as many Deacons as may be at present expedient, to be recommended to the Church for their election.

Resolved, That, in doing this, the following rules be adopted, for the better understanding of the mutual duties of Deacons and Elders :

1st. The session, consisting of Pastor and Ruling Elders, constitute the supreme and only authorized body in the Church, for directing (in accordance with its spiritual rules) everything pertaining to the spiritual order, government and discipline of the same.

2nd. The Deacons, therefore, are appointed to act only in accordance with the views of the session, and within that field to which session may direct their labors ; and all nominations for that office shall be made by the session.

3rd. It shall be the duty of the Deacons to appoint a Chairman, Secretary and Treasurer, and to keep minutes of all their proceedings, which shall be submitted to the session for review and approval once a quarter.

4th. Within the field assigned to them, it shall be the duty of the Deacons to devise and employ every proper means for furthering the objects entrusted to their care.

5th. Once a quarter, or oftener, if necessary, the Deacons shall meet with the session, when they shall make their report and receive directions and advice, and when appropriations to the regular beneficiaries of the Church shall be made.

6th. In regard to the specific duties of the Deacons. Resolved, that to them be committed, under the afore-said direction and superintendence of the session—

I. The poor, and everything pertaining to their temporal comfort and advantage.

II. The collections for all religious purposes, to be made in the congregation as appointed by the session, and the means of rendering them more general, more equal, more liberal, and therefore more systematic.

III. The arrangements for the accommodation of strangers and others, at all the meetings of the Church.

IV. It shall be the duty of the Deacons also to use every proper and practicable means for inducing strangers to attend the Church—for aiding and assisting young men and others in procuring situations or employment—for promoting, as far as practicable, the temporal welfare, business and prospects, of members of the Church; and in every other way for furthering its interests.

V. It shall be further the duty and business of the Deacons, to assist in promoting the circulation of such periodicals, as, in the judgment of the session, it is desirable to circulate in the congregation.

Finally, as it regards the election and ordination of Deacons. Resolved, that they be conducted in the same manner as those of Ruling Elders, according to Rules 1 and 2 of this Church.
